Meet Allison

Allison Ricciardi is a Licensed Mental Health Counselor in New York, in practice since 1990. In 2001 Allison founded CatholicTherapists.com, the web's #1 resource connecting Catholics with faithful Catholic therapists. She is also the director of The Raphael Remedy which offers coaching and counseling from an authentically Catholic perspective.

In addition to blogging on her two sites, Allison is a regularly featured contributor on SpiritualDirection.com and Mind & Spirit. Allison's unique ability to integrate faith, psychology, and common sense has made her a popular guest on radio and television alike.

Grounded in belief that God made the human person and that the emotions and the spirit are inexorably connected, Allison is able to offer inspiration and hope for healing and true happiness—all with a touch of humor. To Allison, the Catholic life is a joyful life and her message is one of hope in God's mercy and goodness.

Allison can also be found at her blog: AllisonRicciardi.com.
